QMV are leaders in remediations

Most organisations don't plan for remediation, and due to the nature of such projects, they are often approached with a reactive lens. This makes the resolution process disjointed and inefficient.

Remediation projects and programs can be filled with complex, non-linear pathways requiring excellence in stakeholder management and utilisation of resources.

As leaders in remediation, we understand the importance of accuracy, timeliness, and communication. We have performed hundreds of data remediation projects using an innovative and flexible approach.

Our Expertise

QMV consultants have a wealth of experience and the capabilities to identify, analyse and execute solutions for even the most complex remediation problems. We promise high quality outcomes delivered by industry experts.

We have built a comprehensive framework and methodology that ensures every remediation project:

- ✓ Is in line with ASIC regulations RG277 for Consumer remediation
- ✓ Is based on Consultation provided to ASIC by QMV
- ✓ Is flexible to fit into an organisation's existing environment
- ✓ Is executed by consultants that have the ability to manage multiple stakeholder engagements, whilst understanding their impact on these stakeholder relationships
- ✓ Has an accompanying internal library of relevant remediation resources including case studies, templates, and related history of work for consultants to reference

"QMV's RaaS model enables organisations to use the best mix of people, process, and technology."

Additional RaaS components

QMV's Remediation as a Service (RaaS) allows organisations to utilise the optimum combination of people, process, and technology. Our specialised remediation experts along with in-house developed processes, calculation models and technology can fast-track remediation work, reduce costs and deliver quality outcomes.

We have products and services that work hand in hand with our remediation consultants.

People

QMV are experts in remediation and known for delivering on complex requirements. Our team includes specialist consultants with the hybrid technical and analytical skills required for remediation.

Don't start from scratch each time. QMV have developed approaches to analysis, documentation and calculation that drive efficiency and can fast-track any remediation project.

Process

Technology

QMV's data quality software Investigate DQ provides a remediation-source-of-truth; allowing you to monitor progress, calculate compensation and utilise multiple reporting lenses throughout the remediation process.

We can provide associated consulting services focusing on Program/Project Management, Legal and Management Consulting that can save your organisation time, resources and give you the expertise needed.

Advisory

Our people set us apart. We work as a collective. We produce the best possible solutions for clients because we draw upon combined knowledge across the team and promote a collaborative culture. QMV consultants are known for adding immediate value and will make a big difference to your organisation.
